PAPER OR CLOTH?—The Log points out in connection with this artistic photo the similarity of finishing of textiles and paper, since both deal with the processing of fibres. These Union Bleachery dry cans are likened to dryer rolls on a paper machine.

Eno Employee's Son Is Honored

The following is a letter of commendation received last week by Mrs. Ruth Talbert of the Eno Plant Spinning Department regarding her son, Alvis Talbert, who has been stationed in Korea for the past several months with the 19th Infantry Regiment:

Headquarters First Battalion
19th Infantry Regiment
APO 24
4 February 1954

Mrs. Ruth Talbert
P. O. Box 1529
West Hillsboro, N. C.
Dear Mrs. Talbert:

In this battalion, it is the custom for the officer of the guard, during his inspection, to select the one individual of the forty man guard whom he believes is the outstanding soldier present.

Yesterday at guard mount the officer of the guard selected your son, Alvis, as the finest soldier of the group. This selection was based on Alvis' appearance, superior condition of his arms and equipment, his proficiency in the manual of arms, his military bearing, and his knowledge of the duties of a sentinel.

I just thought you would like to know about this and that you'd probably be proud of Alvis; I know I was.

Yours truly,
(signed) John J. Short
Lieutenant Colonel,
Infantry

H. M. Angel Speaks On Counseling

H. M. Angel, general secretary of Cone Memorial YMCA and past president of Greensboro Ministerial Association, spoke at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Textile Ministerial Association last Wednesday. He spoke on counseling at the individual level. Rev. John T. Edwards, president of the association, presided over the business.

Mr. Angel discussed basic concepts of counseling. He told the ministers that they should have a professional attitude toward people seeking counsel but that they should never appear indifferent. He also advised them to stress the spiritual values in life and to never become a crutch for people to lean upon heavily. Time spent with them should be limited.

"Above all," stated Mr. Angel, "it is important that the counselor be a good listener and avoid being a participant in an argument."

He told the ministers that in counseling they should never try to stem the person's outbursts of emotion, but that they should sympathize with them.

The pastors made comments following the talk.

Community Chest To Conduct Spring Campaign For Funds

The Executive Committee of the Greensboro Community Chest in its meeting yesterday afternoon voted to proceed immediately on the Capital Funds Campaign in behalf of the Boy Scouts, Red Shield Boys Club, Central and Branch Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A.

A total goal for eight major capital projects was approved in the amount of $738,210. While no kick-off date was set, the campaign will be conducted this spring as soon as a campaign chairman can be secured and campaign plans completed.

The campaign was approved last November by the Board of Directors of the Chest after an exhaustive study by a special screening committee under the chairmanship of A. H. Parker. The screening committee was appointed last summer following a mass meeting of the business and industrial leaders of the city. At this meeting the needs of the six agencies were reviewed and it was determined that the community would rather have one campaign conducted in behalf of all of the six agencies instead of six individual capital campaigns launched in the next few days.

The initial requests of the six organizations totaled $1,271,174 but this figure was reduced to $738,210 by eliminating certain of the requests, and combining certain of the proposed facilities. The proposed campaign figure represents the minimum needs of these six agencies to either protect the present investments or to provide new facilities to meet the demand for program services.

The Boy Scout original request of $149,230 to complete the new camp at Brown Summit was reduced to $70,222 which will cover only the basic buildings and water facilities needed to open camp.

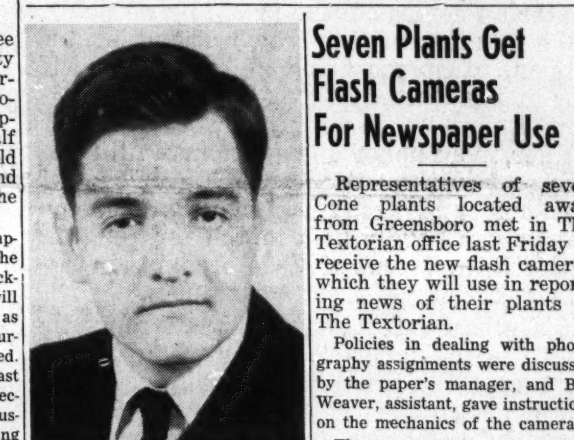

The Red Shield Boys Club which currently conducts its program from three locations in town asked for a new building on West Lee Street including a program building, a gymnasium and a swimming pool. The recommended figure of $103,000 will provide only the first unit and eliminates all consideration of an indoor swimming pool because of the initial cost and the annual maintenance and up-keep.

Two projects of the Central Y.M.C.A. are included. These include water-proofing of the main building on West Market Street, together with some limited renovations inside the building, and considerable improvements to Camp Nakawka. The most pressing need at the camp is for improved water facilities. The original request of the Y.M.C.A. for these projects was reduced from $99,386 to $88,386.

The Central Y.W.C.A. also had two projects, one involving major repairs and remodeling of the main building on Davis Street and the other extensive renovation of the residence building. Their original (Continued on page 4)

WHITE OAK SUGGESTION—Harry Steed, employed in the Machine Shop at White Oak Plant, first shift, had the idea to make the driving dog on the beaming frame into three parts bolted together. When one part is worn, it can be replaced without replacing the entire units as was the case before. He handed in his suggestion through the regular suggestion channels of the company and when it was approved by management, he received a check from Cone Mills Corporation.

ACTIVE SERVICE—James Chatman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chatman of Haw River has been called to active service with the Army. He is stationed at Fort Jackson, S. C. He graduated from Haw River High School in 1952. His father is head grinder in the Carding Department at Tabersville, and his mother is employed in the Winding Department. Both have been with the company about 25 years. James worked in the plant on the summer training program.

Mrs. Friedlaender Speaks To Matrons

Mrs. Marc Friedlaender was guest speaker at the meeting of Proximity Matrons Club Thursday, February 18. The meeting was in observance of Brotherhood Week, the 25 year old movement which has grown to be a national conference of Christians and Jews.

Mrs. Friedlaender urged the club to emphasize points in common between the religious groups, rather have respect for others and tolerance for their beliefs. She asked them to keep a balance between the things that make the groups alike and different. She warned parents about implanting mistrust and prejudice in the minds of their children.

Mrs. Frances Funderburk gave the devotional, basing her remarks on John 13: 34-36.

Mrs. Cletus Andrews presided over the business. Lunch was served from a table in the George Washington birthday motif.

Mrs. H. M. Angel invited the group to her home for the March meeting, Thursday, March 18 at 11 a.m. Each member is asked to bring a Pig-in-poke bingo prize, wrapped. Reservations must be in by Tuesday, March 16.

Rendering A Distinct Disservice

This paper has tried to be fair at all times, and particularly in connection with the McCarthy affairs. On several different occasions we have stated that there were times during the past national administration when McCarthy, by his methods and tactics which we do not normally approve, brought to the public situations about which the public needed some enlightenment. We did not believe and do not now believe that the public would have received enough information about communist infiltration unless somebody had forced the issue such as McCarthy did. For his services in that respect we cannot help but say that he benefited the general welfare of the United States.

We have also stated that we definitely feel that Senator McCarthy is now rendering a distinct disservice to the United States and to the cause he professes to sponsor. There is certainly no rhyme or reason why his present tactics are necessary; in fact, they are not only most objectionable but are probably as dangerous as some of those that he himself loudly deplores.

We are now particularly concerned as to his treatment accorded to representatives of the United States Army. By the time The Textorian comes off the press, he no doubt will have attempted to browbeat and intimidate one of the most able and patriotic citizens of the United States, Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens. In our book there is no finer, more honorable gentleman filling a high post in the entire world. He is such a gentleman and is so ethical in his philosophy that he can hardly be a match for Senator McCarthy and some of his lieutenants in the type of hearing McCarthy conducts.

It is indeed unfortunate that a person with the stature of Robert T. Stevens should have to undergo the third degree, criminal type of browbeating that the Senator delights in imposing upon those who appear before him. The third degree lashes used in the past on criminals are more merciful than the type of treatment Senator McCarthy has inflicted at times.

For the cause of common decency and respectability, we hope that Secretary Stevens will be accorded proper treatment.

We should not for one minute condone subversive activity in the Army; on the other hand, we know as a matter of fact that Army officers are restricted in their activity by laws and regulations, some of which are imposed by Congress itself. If it is the desire of the Senator and his colleagues that the Army use militant methods or any other type of procedure in ridding the Army of all men in question, then Congress itself has the power to so order. Until such time, those in charge of the administration of the Army must follow military regulations in performing their duties. If it is charged that they fail in doing this, then they should be accorded a proper type of hearing and a fair trial, but should definitely be spared the humiliation and abuse of McCarthyism.

We are now beginning to have great fear that McCarthyism is little different in its practices from the practices used so ruthlessly by the communists.

We have now reached the point that McCarthyism must be curtailed. This country cannot afford to permit a continuation of the methods and procedures indulged in by McCarthy.

It is indeed unfortunate that the Senator has been permitted to carry on in such a nefarious manner for so long because his campaign has been identified primarily with the recent movement to ferret out communism in government. We are now alarmed over the fact that because of the identity, the proper type of campaign to accomplish the purpose will be seriously impaired.

It will be more difficult for intelligent, well-meaning citizens to properly plan to rid this country of communistic influence because of the fact that efforts in that direction, even though properly promoted, are apt to be identified with McCarthyism.

It will require the best thinking and planning possible to conduct a proper program against communism and at the same time put an end to the abominable McCarthyism.

Dr. Heaton Speaks

This is thirteenth and last of the series of talks by Dr. George Heaton, sponsored by Greensboro Industries, Inc.

Your Stake In Your Job

As we come to the close of this series, may I suggest that there is one truth no one of us can escape and that is: Everyone of us must give careful attention to the relationship he has with other people on the job, because this is the factor that will determine how well our jobs go, how happy we are personally, and how successful the enterprise will be in a most highly competitive period of American history. It isn't going to be easy for anyone of us to be sure or to be secure during this coming year. Everyone of us is in competition with every other worker, and unless you and I are able to produce more and do it in a better quality and at a lower cost, we shall discover that some worker is doing that instead and our place is thereby insecure. It is the most important attitude and consideration for anyone of us at this very moment.

A few years ago experiments were conducted at a Western Electric plant in Pennsylvania which showed how important the human factor is. Scientists went into the plant and put them to work in a separate room to observe the productivity of these girls under differing conditions. For example, they gave them wages on an incentive basis and the output of each girl went up. Then they gave the girls more frequent rest periods, and once more the output of every girl went up. And then they gave to each girl better lighting for her job, and once more the output of every girl went up. And then they reduced the number of hours that each girl worked, and still the output went up. And at once most agreed that this increase in production was due to changes made in their working conditions, but the scientists were not satisfied with that kind of deduction. So they continued the experiment, taking away from the girls, one by one, each of the things that had been given to them. They put them on a straight hourly basis, but still the output improved. They decreased their rest periods and still production improved. They decreased the amount of lighting and still the production improved.

It was then the scientists discovered the most important truth about our work when an individual feels that he is engaged in something important (and each of the girls felt that way because she was working in a separate group) and when an individual feels that something is at stake in the work that is being done, then no matter what the conditions are the individual will work with other individuals as a team and they will measure up in a vastly improved way.

Now the findings of that experiment are very important for us today—to realize that it doesn't matter nearly so much about actual conditions under which an individual works as it does the feeling on the part of that individual that his job is important—that he is having a part in something in which others have a part, that he is playing on a team. When he learns to work that way, he gets more satisfaction out of it and his work vastly improves. So in this closing talk to you, I would like to say a few words to those of you who are supervisors and to those of you who are employees.

First of all to you supervisors. Here are some things that you must never forget in your dealings with people, and the first is this: Never forget that everyone who works with you is a person and not a machine. Treat everyone as a person. The second: Always be fair. Fair to everyone, showing no partiality to people who may be kin to you or people who may have sought your favor. Third: When you give instructions to people, give instructions clearly and make sure that every individual understands not only what he is to do but why he is supposed to do it. Fourth: In dealing with people, have an eye to the conditions under which they work. During these winter months, sometimes doors are left open in shipping departments, for example, and create uncomfortable conditions for people at work. You must keep an eye toward these things in order to give the people the best possible working conditions. And see that all information is passed on to the people. Don't allow people to live in ignorance of what is going on, but tell them what it is and why it is being done.

And may I say to you as supervisors, be available to people so they can talk to you about their problems. Unless you have an open ear, there will be many dissatisfactions that you would gladly have corrected if you had known about them. Be helpful of your people. Be the kind of leader who will get down and do the job himself, the kind of leader who will work with his people and the kind of leader who will give them real pride in the job they do.

Now a word to each of us who works under some supervision. Perhaps the most important thing—don't keep your dissatisfactions to yourself. Bring them out into the open to your supervisor. Don't be afraid of him—he doesn't want you to be afraid of him. Tell him of things that irritate you and upset you, things that you believe to be unfair. And secondly, work hard on your job, knowing that all over this country there are many individuals doing the same job, and everyone of them is a competitor of yours. And if your job is going to be secure, you must do it in the best possible way and with the greatest of cooperation.

You have heard me talk about antagonism and resentment and why I think it is such a disastrous thing. I was thinking as I came up in the airplane that perhaps the perfect example of what lack of cooperation can mean in a plant is a wagon that has lost one of its wheels. It takes four good wheels to make a wagon. But if you drop out of the job, and if you are not doing your part, progress is slowed and everyone is hurt. Do your job with pride—do it well. Make suggestions about how the job can be improved. I came from a plant last week where one single employee had made a suggestion that improved greatly the speed with which television sets were made. You can make a suggestion that can strengthen your company and it will help your associates. Keep your eyes open to new opportunities and know that every company wants to give you a chance.

And so, we come to the end. My Lord and your Lord had a great way of putting it and we ought to hear it again—"All things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so likewise unto them." It is the greatest rule of life, and it is for all men, particularly in industry where I pray that you and those with whom you work will have the best and finest of relationships.

Post Script to Editorial

(Since this week's editorial went to press before yesterday's Stevens-McCarthy developments, we add the following post script.)
The closed door meeting between Senator McCarthy, Secretary Stevens, and others does not alter principles involved in practices and methods of the Senator from Wisconsin.
Even though it now appears that Army officers will be accorded proper consideration when being examined by McCarthy's committee, the country can no longer afford to tolerate "McCarthyism," and the administration and Congress should realize this and take measures to put an end to it.

Club's Request For Recipes Granted

Proximity Matron's Club requested that the salad and dessert recipes, used at last week's luncheon, be published in The Textorian.

A suggested menu for lunch would be:

Two-tone salad (crisp lettuce), celery hearts-radishes-carrot curls, potato chips, crisp crackers or (a roll or meat sandwich) orange cake, tea, coffee or milk.

Two-tone Salad
Part I. One pkg. lemon Jello. One pint cream (whipped). One cup boiling water.
One and one half cup cottage cheese.

Dissolve Jello in hot water, cool slightly, then beat with egg-beater until frothy. Add whipped cream, blend thoroughly, then add cottage cheese.

Pour into pan, 9" x 13", allow to set in refrigerator until firm.

Part II. One package lime Jello. One cup pineapple juice. One cup boiling water. Dissolve Jello in boiling water and add pineapple juice. Cool.

Add one cup chopped pineapple, one-third cup sliced stuffed olives. One-third cup chopped nuts.

Pour this on top of first mixture. Allow to set over night or several hours.

Cut in individual servings and serve on crisp lettuce.

Orange Cake
One half cup sugar. Juice of one orange. Combine. Stir well and set aside. One cup raisins (seedless). Rind of one orange.

Grind together in food chopper, (fine)

Two cups flour. One half tsp. salt. One half tsp baking powder. One tsp. soda. Sift together.

One cup sugar. One half cup shortening. Two eggs. One cup buttermilk.

Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add well beaten eggs, then add flour and buttermilk, alternately.

Lastly, add raisin and rind, which have been ground finely in food chopper.

Pour mixture into greased and floured pan, approximately 9"x13" x 2". Bake at 350° F. for half an hour, or until it is done through.

Remove from oven, and immediately pour orange juice-sugar mixture over hot cake, leave cake in pan, until served or until thoroughly cold.

Top with whipped cream if desired.

This recipe will make 12 to 15 servings, depending on desired size.

What a Life!

The "typography" error is a slippery thing and sly; You can hunt it 'til you're dizzy, But it somehow will get by.

'Til the plates are off the presses It is strange how still it keeps, It shrinks (?) down in a corner And it never stirs or peeps.

That "typography" error, Too small (?) for human eyes, 'Til the ink is on the paper, When it grows to mountain size.

The remainder of the issue May be clean as clean can be, But the "typography" error Is the only thing you see!

(Apologies to Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company.)

The league's leading Proximity Goats remain in first place in the Cone Y.M.C.A. Office Bowling League by defeating the Laboratory 3 games to 0, in three exciting games last Tuesday night at Proximity Y. Monroe Whit, led his teammates in the first game, with his highest score of the season, a 105.

Byron Calhoun, "Ole" reliable, 113, Jim, "under pressure" Fuller, 106, Bill Pennington 102, and Ray Smith, "The Swann," 104, were all top bowlers for the Goats.

The Lab, led by Fit Seabolt, 104, and Bob Weavers 96, had tough breaks all three games, losing the last one by only eight pins. I told Bob Weaver that I wouldn't mention the spare in his last check, when his team had a chance to win, and he only got one pin out with his extra throw, so I am not.

At the White Oak Y.M.C.A. the Proximity Comets were defeated two games to one by Revolution office. Revolution had the toughest breaks of any team I've seen. They were led by T. "Papa" Ward, 109, Ventry "Ole come through," Hinshaw, 94, Merlin Beaver 105, Rawley Meadows and Will Marshburn, 98's.

The Comets, although losing two games, bowled well. They were led by Gene Neiers, 104, D. O. Myrick, 102, and Jim Ward, 95. This team is improving, so watch out!

After getting off to a bad start, the RAYON Office finally settled down and defeated the Payroll Office two games to one at the Proximity Y.M.C.A. last Monday night. Jack Hughes, 102, and Harvey, "hard hitting," Gordon, 100, led the Rayon team. Jack must have his boys in training now!

The Payroll Office tried something new against the Rayon, and it worked. Aaron, "The Whammy," Pinkerton wore his bright red suspenders and blinded the Rayon boys when they started to bowl. After winning the first game, Aaron removed his suspenders, and the Payroll suffered a loss of two games. James Weaver's 104, and Howard Pickard's 98 led the Payroll team.

High team set for this week goes to the Goats with 1,392 pins. High team game goes to Revolution with 483 pins. High individual set goes to Gene Neiers and James Weaver with a total of 298 pins.

High individual game goes to Byron Calhoun with a total of 113 pins. High individual average for total games bowled goes to Ray Smith with a total of 97 per game.

Standings are:

Team	Won	Lost
Proximity	14	4
Rayon	12	6
Payroll	8	10
Revolution	8	10
Proximity Comets	5	7
Laboratory	1	11

request of $191,764 was reduced to $109,492. The screening committee felt that it was essential to protect the investment already made in the main building but that it was inadvisable to put any additional funds into the residence building which is approximately 100 years old.

The Hayes-Taylor Y.M.C.A.'s original request for $352,044 involved a large addition to the present structure to provide a boys' department, a gymnasium and a swimming pool. The Branch Y.W.C.A. also requested a new building at a proposed cost of $150,000. The Screening Committee report, which was accepted by the full Board of the Chest, recommends one joint facility for these two agencies with the two programs being entirely separate. The original outlay, the annual maintenance upkeep, it is felt, can be curtailed in a joint building as compared to the amount to maintain two separate structures.

SOLOIST—Miss Camille Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Stone, was a featured soloist in "The Torrid Twenties Cabaret," which was sponsored by the Junior Service League of Reidsville. Appearing as Miss 1954, Camille sang "You Are Love," and had a part in several other scenes. Mr. Stone is assistant superintendent at Edna Plant.

During the past two months every effort has been made by the officers of the Chest to secure community opinion regarding the needs of the agencies and as to the timing and plan of the campaign. Complete endorsement has been secured from a number of the largest business and industrial firms and from many of the larger contributors of the Chest that the needs are pressing and that the successful continuance of these vital community services depends on the raising of sufficient funds to put the existing buildings into good shape and to provide new structures for those agencies currently operating under makeshift arrangements.

Mr. Ben Cone, Chest president, announced that he would make every effort to secure a campaign chairman in the immediate future so that the campaign can be conducted in April and May of this year. It is anticipated that pledges will be solicited payable on a one, two or three year basis, according to the wishes of the donors.

This campaign, which is the first of its kind ever conducted in the city, represents a tremendous undertaking affecting all of the citizens of the community. The Chest officials have agreed to make available the services of the regular staff of the Chest to work with the lay and professional leaders of the agencies involved in order to conduct the campaign at a minimum of expense and with the greatest efficiency. No outside professional campaign organization will be involved.
